Which nouns are used as subjects in sentences? (Select all that apply)

- The teacher ✓
- The ball ✓
- Quickly
- Happiness ✓

Nouns that can be used as subjects in sentences include proper nouns, common nouns, and collective nouns. These nouns perform the action of the verb or are described by the verb in a sentence.

Describe how to form the plural of an irregular noun, and give two examples.

To form the plural of an irregular noun, you typically change the word in a way that does not follow the regular 's' or 'es' pattern. For example, 'man' becomes 'men' and 'tooth' becomes 'teeth.'

Explain the difference between common nouns and proper nouns.

Common nouns are general names for a class of objects (e.g., 'city', 'dog'), whereas proper nouns are specific names that identify a unique entity (e.g., 'New York', 'Fido').

Identify the abstract nouns from the list below. (Select all that apply)

- Courage ✓
- Table
- Joy ✓
- Mountain

Abstract nouns refer to concepts, ideas, or qualities that cannot be perceived with the five senses. Examples include love, freedom, and happiness, as opposed to concrete nouns which refer to physical objects.

Which of the following are concrete nouns? (Select all that apply)

- Song ✓
- Apple ✓
- Happiness
- Car ✓

Concrete nouns refer to physical objects that can be perceived through the senses. Examples include 'apple', 'car', and 'dog', as opposed to abstract nouns like 'freedom' or 'happiness'.

What is the function of the noun in the sentence: "The teacher gave a lecture"?

- Subject ✓
- Direct object
- Indirect object
- Predicate noun

In the sentence "The teacher gave a lecture," the noun 'teacher' functions as the subject, while 'lecture' serves as the direct object of the verb 'gave.' This indicates who is performing the action and what is being given.

What type of noun is "dog"?

- Common noun ✓
- Proper noun
- Abstract noun

Collectiv noun

The noun "dog" is a common noun, as it refers to a general class of animals rather than a specific individual. Common nouns are used to name general items, people, or places.

Which of the following is a proper noun?

- city
- book
- Paris ✓
- happiness

A proper noun is a specific name used for an individual person, place, or organization, and it is always capitalized. Examples include 'New York', 'Eiffel Tower', and 'Albert Einstein'.

What is the plural form of "mouse"?

- mouses
- mice ✓
- mouse
- mousies

The plural form of "mouse" is "mice." This irregular plural form is commonly used in English to refer to more than one mouse, whether in the context of animals or computer devices.

Which article is used with the noun "apple"?

- a
- an ✓
- the
- none

The article used with the noun "apple" is "an" when referring to a single apple, as it begins with a vowel sound. In general, the indefinite article 'a' is used for consonant sounds, while 'an' is used for vowel sounds.

Why is it important to capitalize proper nouns? Provide examples.

It is important to capitalize proper nouns to clearly identify specific people, places, or organizations, which helps avoid confusion. For example, 'Paris' refers to the city, while 'paris' could refer to a common noun.

Which noun is gender-specific?

- Parent
- Actress ✓
- Doctor
- Student

Gender-specific nouns refer to terms that denote a particular gender, such as 'actor' for males and 'actress' for females. These nouns are used to specify the gender of the person being referred to, distinguishing them from gender-neutral terms.
